AT THE MANHATTAN ATHLETIC CLUB. The members of the New-York baseball team, who reported in this city to Manager Davis sailed on the steamer Tallahassee from the foot of Spring-st. yesterday. A large crowd assembled at the pier to the players off, and cheered them as the boat drew out into the stream, at 3:15 p. m. The team will leave the steamer at Savannah and make the emainder of the trip to Jacksonville by rail. Most of the players were in good spirits, probably in much better spirits than they will be in to-day, for the reather indications point to a rather rough voyage lown the coast.

The party included George S. Davis, the manager; Doyle, Glennan, Murphy, Stafford, Tiernan, Burke, Farrell, a local semi-professional catcher named Smith, and Krauss. Rusie, Meekin and Puller will go South from their homes in the West. Wilson nd Westervelt have not come to terms with the

A number of small companies which have become un ber of small companies which have become un-steady because of the reduced profits on sewing machines, and which would like to be absorbed by the larger and more prosperous concerns, are re-ported as circulating rumors from time to time of imaginary deals, for the sake of advertising. An interested audience, mainly composed of clergymen of various denominations, but including also a good number of prominent laymen and churchwomen, listened to and applauded heartly the lecture on "English Movements toward Christian Unity," given by the Rev. Dr. Henry S. Lunn, Editor of "The Review of Churches," London, at 4 p. m. yesterday, in the Marble Collegiate Church, Twenty-ninth-st. and Fifth-ave. The Rev. Dr. B. B. Tyler, pastor of the Church of the Disciples, presided.

Dr. Lunn said that the selection of a little Alpine Dr. Lunn said that the selection of a little Alpine village in which to hold the Grindelwald Conference, of which he was president, was necessary, because there was a tendency among English churches to be dictatorial, and a desire on the part of certain English clergymen to monopolize everything ecclestastical. This tendency and desire made it of prime importance that the conference should be half where all when should be held where all who took part in it would be completely separated from their accustomed ecclesiastical environment. There was so many religious leaders in England, he said, that the promotion of Christian unity was a difficult referre.

THE GENERAL MARKET REPORT.

THE GENERAL MARKET REPORT.

New-York, February 23, 1835.

COTTON—The cotton market opened slightly lower, but was dull during the forencon, with the movement of prices narrow and trade without special feature. A slight rally was seen at one time, but there was very little demand on the advance, and, when shorts had covered, the market stagged off, closing quiet and steady at unchanged to I point advance, Saies were mi,600 bales. The weakness early was encouraged by the advices from Liverpool, which showed lower markets there, and by the talk about a free-port movement. The trade after the first decline lacked feature of special importance, and at noon the market was quiet but steady. The better weather South has enlarged the movement of cotton considerably, showing that the decrease during the bad weather was more on account of the weather than on account of the exhaustion of the crop. The movement this week promises to be from 110,000 to 120,000 bales, and Southern advices are not very encouraging. The Texas bulletin says that the snows have been a beneficial factor and put the ground in excellent shape for spring work. Farmers are reported busy all over the State. With the increased movement of spot cotton South, reports regarding concessions in price have been received from some of the markets. The amount of cotton to come into sight this week is expected to bring the total up to 8,500,000 bales, which will leave six months for the 1,250,000 to come forward which would be required to make up a crop of 9,750,000 bales. An average of 20,000 bales a month during the next six months would not be a very large average. The estimated receipts at New Orleans for the morrow were 3,660 to 4,000 bales, against 7,638 bales for the corresponding time last week, and at Memphis 706 bales, against 2,487 bales last week, and at Memphis 706 bales, against 2,487 bales last week, and at Memphis 706 bales against 3,487 bales last week, and at Memphis 706 bales, against 2,487 bales last week, and at Memphis 706 bales against 2,48 New-York, February 26, 1895,
